INCOME TAX RETURNS

Federal law requires a return to be made by every citizen, regardless of the amount of net income, if having a gross income of $750 if single for entire year, or married and not living with husband or wife for any part of the year; $1,500 if married and living with husband or wife for the entire year.

Returns for 1941 must be filed not later than March 15, 1942, but may be filed now.

I have been preparing returns for years and am an expert; frequently I save taxpayers more than my charges by reason of knowing how to prepare the returns and claiming all the exemptions allowable. My regular customers will require all my time in March. Don't postpone this important return, but see me now, as there are severe penalties for failure to file by March 15th.

LET'S CONDITION OURSELVES FOR THINGS TO COME!

WE KNOW now what rationing of auto tires meant. We will soon know what rationing of automobiles will mean.

This rationing of tires and cars is already playing havoc with tire dealers and auto dealers. They find themselves confronted with the big question, "Now what?"

He has cars on hand he's not allowed to sell. There's small comfort in the government's assurance that the cars he now has on hand may be sold. He knows that he's not going to get any more to sell. He knows his principal source of revenue is cut off. He also knows that he has rent to pay, salaries to pay, taxes to pay and other liabilities, together with a certain definite responsibility to the community which has helped him live and do business.

It just happens that these are the first two pressures in our community to feel the pressure of this new war now on our hands. There are and will be others.

Here in this community and in other communities like Statesboro and Bulloch County, the fabric is pretty closely knitted. And so we're going to find ourselves rallying around each other with one common purpose: "We're together in this boat . . . let's keep it afloat."

With a general budget calling for an expenditure of $76,782,711,400 in 1942 and 1943 on national defense alone, this nation faces a tremendous task, but one that must be faced.

And it can be faced and the solving of its problems lie, to a great extent, in communities like we have here in this county. So let's condition ourselves for things yet to come!

—GIVE TO THE RED CROSS!—

THE CITY, COUNTY, AND STATE CAN HELP US SAVE TIRES

WITH THE owners of automobiles in Statesboro and Bulloch County, as well as the rest of the nation, stymied on the tire problem we believe that the City and County can play an important part in this new phase of the Civilian Defense Program.

Tire dealers are not allowed to sell tires. So car owners are going to have to make out with the tires they now have on their cars. They are going to have to nurse them, care for them, and pet them along to get the absolute maximum mileage out of them.

And when a man in his car whose tires may be in good shape or they may be in pretty bad shape, drives down the streets of Statesboro and the roads of the county and he hits a hole in the pavement with sharp edges, he has visions of big gashes cut in his tire and he's apt to get sorta mad. And rightly so.

Holes in the pavement, too small to be seen at a distance until too late to avoid, or an approaching car makes it impossible to avoid, can cut tires up pretty bad. And these holes can be filled at very little cost.

So let's get together and do our part to help the car owners save their tires to help this nation in its present rubber conservation program.

And this might well extend to all the roads in the state, since we're all in the same boat.

—GIVE TO THE RED CROSS!—

Oil will help to win this war, but not "banana oil."

—GIVE TO THE RED CROSS!—

How Long Will the War Last?—Headline. It will last until we win it.

—GIVE TO THE RED CROSS!—

TODAY, Thursday, January 15, Will be Clear and Cold. Fishing poor. FRIDAY, January 16, Will be Clear and Cold. Fishing very poor. SATURDAY, January 17, Will be Clear and Cold. Fishing still bad. SUNDAY, January 18, Will be Clear and Cold. Fishing still bad. MONDAY, January 19, Will be Clear and Cold. Fishing still bad. TUESDAY, Jan. 20, Clear, Cold. You're a dope to go fishing. WEDNESDAY, January 21, Will be Clear and Cold. Ditto.

. . . But Don't Blame Us If the Almanac Is Wrong

WE SHOULD HAVE KNOWN better than to have let that story run about our farmer friend whose dog learned to call up the hogs. LAWSON HOWARD, best story-teller in the county, allows as how he's got a bird dog that's got 'em all beat.

When Lawson take his favorite dog out hunting, he (Lawson) doesn't even bother to take a gun, for he knows he'll not need it. For, according to Lawson, when this dog finds a covey of quail, he points out to Lawson where to be on the job. The dog then knows where there is a gopher hole, so he just rounds up the quail and runs them in this gopher hole and covers the hole until Lawson can come up. Then the dogs let the quail out one at a time and Lawson takes 'em home and wrings their necks. Lawson tells of the time he and his dog brought back 99 birds on one hunting trip. When asked why he didn't hunt just another minute or so to make it an even hundred birds, Lawson replied, "I wouldn't lie just for one bird."

THIS STORY COMES under the head of "Now You Tell One!" Monday last week, at the Rotary Club, John Mooney was showing Charlie Cone and us a picture of his and Mrs. Mancy's Siamese cat. We up and said we needed a cat to rid us of the rats in our log cabin. John up and promises us one of his cats, if and when she has kittens. "Best ratcatcher in the world," allows John. "Why, they'll never give up the hunt 'til they find the rat. Take an old tomcat, he'll hunt a rat until he gets a little tired and then take it easy or go off and find something else to do . . . not a Siamese. They hunt 'em right down. And more than that, they'll hunt and catch flies . . . and MOSQUITOES!"

"Yep, this cat will be stretched out on the floor and a mosquito will begin slinging and doing fancy inside loops over the cat's head and then the cat will sorta raise up and just sudden-like reach out his paw and—bingo! No more mosquito."

We were speechless. And then Charlie Cone, across the table from us, up and said: "That is nothing! Why, recently I was driving through a field and saw a bunch of partridges get up and some feathers flying. Getting closer, I saw an old tomcat that had pulled the feathers from a quail, he had almost caught." O. K., now you tell one!

We wonder what would happen if the dogs in the first part of the column and the cats in the second part of the column were to get together. Now there would be a real story. One even Lawson Howard could tell as the truth and not be believed.

OUR UNEASY IDEA DEPARTMENT—(Any resemblance to a workable idea is purely coincidental and we suggest that a lawyer be consulted before they are tried.)

TO GET MORE MILEAGE on your auto speedometer without wear to your tires: Jack up the rear wheels and start your motor running and accelerate until the speedometer indicates about 35 miles per hour. It'll put lots of miles on the speedometer, and leave your tires untouched. Lots of extra miles that way.

TO SAVE GASOLINE (and at the same time save your tires and wear on your auto): Go to your nearest shoe repair shop and get a NEW old shoe on your last year's shoes, then go home and sit in grandpa's favorite rocker (for grandpa will be out drilling with the State Defense Corps) and study your first-aid lesson for tomorrow's night's class.

WE'VE FOUND THE ANSWER to the question Lowell asked, "What what is so rare as a day in June?"—a tire in January!

DUNKIRK VETERAN TRAINING AT GUNTER STALKED BY WAR

Declarations of war have had a way of stalking British Flying Student James Cook, of Gunter Field, who (genuinely) was a contented clerk in Wakefield, England. In less than three years he has been on hand to watch four nations say farewell to peace. Each of the new wars has meant moving armies, and battle action once within the hour for Cook.

On Sunday, Sept. 3, 1939, Chamberlain announced that England had accepted the axis' challenge. Thirty minutes later Cook had been summoned from his clerkling into an army uniform.

On the morning of May 10, 1940, Cook was in France with the E. F. when Hitler loosed his legions against Holland and Belgium. Within the hour Cook was speeding to action and remained under fire until the receding battlefront backed into Dunkirk.

Sunday, Dec. 7, 1941, he was listening to a program of British music at Bok Tower, near Lake Wales, Fla., on his first leave in months, when news of the Japanese attack spread through the audience. His leave was cancelled and within the hour he was riding back to duty to await whatever orders the declaration might bring.

Cook's only comment on the series of wars which has sent him under bombs in Europe and over clouds in America is, "I never want to be a clerk again."

In fact, he volunteered for the R. A. F. after returning from Dunkirk, because "we weren't doing anything but drilling and doing practice shooting all day." He was considered good enough to be sent to America for pilot training, and is being taught in the Southeast Air Corps training center, of which Gunter Field is a unit.

Having seen Englishmen, Dutch, Belgian and Americans on the day that war came to their respective countries, he was rather surprised at comparing national reactions. There was more shouting, he says, where there was apparently the least chance of survival—in Belgium and Holland. In both England and the United States, however, the excitement remained suppressed. He said he was amazed at the calmness and lack of frenzied displays by civilians here. Having attributed the same quiet in England to a certainty of the war's coming, he said he had expected something different here where the initial blow was a surprise.

Dunkirk to Cook is a memory of an orderly retreat in the midst of unceasing attack. As a lorry driver, he transported men from the front line to the new positions in the rear. When the entire front line had been moved back, the new positions would take up the rear-guard action. Then Cook's work would begin again. He says that, except for the actual embarkation at Dunkirk, the German spotted his regiment—with bombs—only once. Because of the nature of his work he was one of the last loads to set sail back across the Channel.

Getting the Most Out of Your Exercise

Here are some suggestions about exercising. It will pay you to study them carefully and follow them, if you want your exercises to do you the most good.

1. Consult your doctor for his expert advice as to the amount and type of exercise most suited to your particular needs.

2. Set a regular time and follow it as a regular program for each day. Exercising by the family as a group is splendid. Different members may take turns at being "class leader."

3. Make frequent check-ups on weight and improvements in sleeping and eating.

4. Exercise before meals, or at least one hour afterwards. Before breakfast is a convenient time for many.

5. Provide a suitable rug or floor covering for lying-down exercises.

6. Try to exercise at least fifteen minutes daily.

7. Drink a glass of water before exercising.

8. Ordinarily, have windows open top and bottom. Good ventilation helps, but the room should not be too cold.

9. Wear loose clothing—for unrestricted movement and free circulation.

10. If you like to exercise to music, tune in on your radio for waltz, foxtrot, or play a waltz selection on your phonograph.

11. Follow instructions carefully.

The Home Medicine Chest

Since Americans in the coastal areas have begun air-raid precautions, the housewife has been casting a critical eye on the contents of her medicine cabinet. The consumer division of the Office of Price Administration has formulated a number of suggestions to stock a war-time medicine cabinet.

The following should be kept on hand: Tannic acid jelly for burns; a pain-reliever, such as aspirin; a remedy for faintness, such as aromatic spirits of ammonia; baking soda, to be used as an emetic or relief from indigestion; a mild laxative; bandages and sterile gauze in sealed packages; adhesive tape; a thermometer; scissors; and tweezers.

Only tannic acid jelly should be used for burns. Under no circumstances should a greasy or oily ointment be used, as it must later be removed by a physician, and its removal is a dangerous and painful process.

Aspirin, in 5-grain tablets, is a good drug for the relief of pain. It should be used in small doses and should not be taken too frequently.

For faintness, aromatic spirits of ammonia is recommended. It should be purchased in small quantities and kept well-stoppered, because it evaporates quickly when the stopper is removed.

Bandages, gauze, and adhesive tape should be purchased in small quantities and kept covered or sealed against dust and dirt. These items, used in dressing wounds, should be on hand in a variety of sizes to take care of several possible needs, from cut fingers to more serious injuries.

Some strains and tensions may develop in air-raid practices and blackouts, resulting in mild stomach disorders, and the home medicine cabinet should carry remedies for these ailments. Baking soda is useful for relieving indigestion; taken freely, it is good as an emetic to stimulate vomiting. Mineral oil and milk of magnesia are the safest laxatives. These are the only two items recommended for their relief of constipation.

In the process of transforming your medicine cabinet into a weapon of civilian defense, you may find it necessary to discard some of the accumulated pills and remnants of past years. Remember that tragic tales have happened to youngsters who played doctor with drugs found in the neighbor's rubbish. Find a good safe way of disposing of the discards so that they will not fall into the hands of children.

ALL'S FAIR

Did you see Lorena Durden and Jean Cone as they started back to Wesleyan via bus? The Greyhound bus was full and it fell to the lot of the young college girls to leave Statesboro on a Bulloch county school bus. Santa Claus brought Lorena a stuffed Panda and a pair of red boots for Christmas and with this teddy-bear-looking creature in her arms, the school bus seemed quite an appropriate mode of transportation.

Polly Rhodes is very proud of a shotgun that he found in his stocking this year.

We know that Mrs. J. E. Carruth is very proud this month and justly so, for those of you who received invitations from Vera Bradley to attend her graduation from high school at Berry know that Mrs. Carruth was instrumental in getting Vera in school. Assisted by the members of the Missionary society and the Crusaders club, Vera has been able to continue at school and has justified the faith these good women had in her ability to prove her worth. After graduation, Vera will go to Atlanta where a position awaits her.

Were you at the bus station early Monday morning in the cold gray dawn as about seventy draftsmen left for the army? There were no flags waving, no bands playing—just mothers and dads and their boys.

Mrs. Brooks Simmons is doing her bit for the Red Cross. She is now knitting on her fifteen long-sleeved, large-size sweaters.

That lovely red and white corsage Genevieve Guardia wore at her birthday party was sent to her by little Cynthia Johnston. Thoughtful, wasn't she?

As ever, JANE.

Essential Tire Users Must Apply to Local Ration Board

Supplementing information published last week on the rationing of tires, we furnish the following interpretations of regulations covering the rationing. The information can be used in a statement made by the Office of Price Administration.

In order to secure a new tire or tube under the rationing, the purchaser must fill out an application which must be certified to by an inspector as to the condition of the tire or tube being replaced. This application must then be taken to a local rationing board which, if the purchaser can show that he falls within the eligible classifications, can issue a certificate for purchase. This must then be taken to a tire dealer from whom the tire or tube may be purchased.

As interpretations are made, they will be sent immediately to all local tire rationing boards through State Defense Councils. Interpretations Made So Far

Following are the interpretations, in question and answer form, made thus far of the rationing regulations issued Dec. 31.

This depends upon whether the release of tires amounts to a delivery or transfer within the contemplation of the order. Opinion reserved for written submission of facts.

Q. Can tires in possession of seller on which full payment has been made be delivered to the purchaser?

A. No.

Q. Can payment be made on a down payment has been made but which are still in the possession of the seller be delivered to the purchaser?

A. No.

SPARE TIRES BANNED FOR NEW LIGHT TRUCKS

An order prohibiting producers, dealers or any other person from equipping, selling, shipping, or delivering new light motor trucks with spare tires or extra tires was issued Dec. 31 by Priorities Director Nelson.

A light truck is defined as of less than 1 1/2 tons. The order is effective immediately. It is similar to one issued Dec. 21 banning and delivery by dealers as well as manufacturers of new passenger cars equipped with more than four new tires.

The order represents a further step in the effort to conserve rubber, vitally needed in the country's huge war effort.
